

ROMA TRE PRESS
EDITORIAL GUIDELINES

- 1) These Guidelines refer ONLY to books, or chapters of books or contributions to books in a language which is different from Italian.
- 2) Each language has a set of editorial guidelines, which differ also according to area of research, each having its own criteria.
- 3) Here are a few essential indications which the Directors of each Series must ensure that they are followed by the authors/contributors:
 - a) The criteria followed must be consistent within each volume and with the other volumes of the same Series, especially concerning citations and footnotes.
 - b) Each Series should provide contributors writing in a language different from Italian appropriate guidelines in line with letter a).
 - c) The authors/editors of each volume must, prior to sending the manuscript to Roma Tre Press, verify that such consistency is ensured.

Here are some examples of editorial guidelines followed by Roma Tre Press Series in four languages different from Italian:
